Cable on JESD Land Spurs Row Among Trustees

By AL QUALES

A lively discussion on whether Vista Grande Cablevision should be allowed to run its cables through Jefferson Elementary School District property, developed during a board of trustees meeting in Daly City Wednesday.

It reached the boiling point when board members discovsome cables have already been laid on district property without their approval.

Trustee Beverly Forrester disclosed the matter by asking Dist. Supt. Frank Greenwood, "Why have they already laid some cables on school property?"

Greenwood replied, "We had no reason to believe the board would be opposed." His associate, Roger Barthuli, was then asked if the administration "had granted Cablevision permission to encroach on school property without board approval?"

"Yes," Barthuli replied.

Trustee Edward Tomasello then interrupted the discussion. "I think its a very generous offer from Cablevision." Tomaseilo cited Cablevision's offer to provide service to public schools for educational purposes at no cost. He added that he felt it was not necessary for the board to be "bickering over" problems such as already laid cables.

Tomasello then asked Trustee Forrester if she was opposed to utilizing a utility for educational purposes.

"I'm not opposed at all. But what does bother me is that Mr. Thomas Noonan, who is a former board member of the district as a personnel commisioner and was Mr. Tomasello's campaign manager, is the second largest stockholder in the corporation," Mrs. Forrester said.

Spectators at the meeting then applauded loudly.

After further discussion, the board agreed to continue with plans to allow Cablevision's encroachment, but to check with the District Attorney's Office on the legality of the action.

The board then moved onto other matters, including a salary adjustment for three district administrators who received illegal pay hikes and were asked by the district attorney's office to return the funds.

"I do not feel this was a good situation," said Tomasello, referring to raises taken away from Greenwood and his associates, Dr. Vinton Stratton and Barthuli.

In reference to the administrators being asked to return the funds, Tomasello said, "I feel the action taken was a harrassing and punitive action."

Tomasello said he wanted to "apologize to the administration for the embarrassment involved" and then made a motion to reinstate a pay salary increase to the administrators that will cover the amount of money they have been asked to return to the district. The motion was passed by a 3 to 2 board vote.

Atkinson Wins Pacifica Fish Pier Construction Contract

The Guy F. Atkinson Company on Monday was awarded the contract for construction of Pacifica's fishing pier and sewer outfall line to the ocean from the Sharp Park area.

The low bid submitted by Atkinson was $2,048,000. It is subject to approval of the various funding agencies involved in the project, including the Wildlife Conservation Board, the Environmental Protection Agency and the state.

One protest was heard from James L. Coleman on behalf of the Sharp Park Improvement Council. The protest was not against the pier and outfall line itself, but rather the location of the project at Santa Rosa Avenue.

According to Coleman, the project will do "irreparable damage" to the residential area and called the letting of the contract "ill-advised."

The contract was the last item on a drawn-out agenda, and City Attorney John Sherman asked for a litigation session, presumably on this matter, mid-way into the council agenda. The session lasted for an hour and fifteen minutes.

Apparently being discussed in the litigation session was how to solve a situation in which Atkinson claimed an error in bidding the sewer outfall, and indicated it would withdraw this bid if bids were awarded on individual basis.

The content of the litigation session was not fully disclosed. The council only approved the full contract to Atkinson and stipulated that it be subject to approval of the funding agencies "and withdrawal of any claim of bid errors."

Three bids were received for the project. Atkinson was the low bidder for all alternates. Other bidders were Healy Tibbits and Ferver Engineering. The city had reserved the right to award contracts on an individual item basis if the bid appeared to be unbalanced.

The bid was for "scheme 5" which was identified as the "shortest pier." The pier is to be built in 60-foot increments.

Rezoning Bid Rejected By San Bruno Council

San Bruno city councilmen Monday night turned down a rezoning which would have permitted an 11-acre shopping center to be built on San Bruno Avenue and Junipero Serra Freeway.

They also voted to rezone the site of the 7-Eleven store being built on Crestmoor Drive at San Bruno Avenue from neighborhood-commercial to single family (R-1).

In both cases, they overruled the recommendation of the planning commission.

Councilmen voted 4-1, with only Mayor George Corey dissenting, to deny the request of wealthy Los Angeles area developer Lewis W. Douglas. Corey informed Douglas that since there was no move on the part of the council to deny the rezoning "without prejudice," it would be a full year before Douglas could reapply for the rezoning, from C-C (commercial) to P-D (planned development).

However, City Attorney Joseph Galligan later said that while Douglas cannot come back with the same rezoning request within a year, he could come back any time with a different rezoning request. Douglas could also build a shopping center, though possibly not as large, with the present C-C zoning, Galligan said.

Douglas presented the plan calling for a large chain supermarket and major drug chain to anchor the center, which would have about a dozen shops in all. He pointed out how the center would be hidden by the terrain and would not be seen from nearby homes.

Councilmen subjected him to a torrent of criticism over the roofs of Shelter Creek Apartments, and the continuous changes he has been alleged to be making in his plans after the original concepts have been approved.

"Your exposed roof tops," thundered Councilman Tony Governale, "is one of the most God-awful sights in San Bruno. My hope has been that this will not be repeated."

He complained that the original plans for Shelter Creek shows roof tops entirely different from what is now there. Councilman Neil Christal complained that plans were changed administratively after being approved by the commission.

"We got a lemon with Shelter Creek, when you look at it from the top," he declared. "I want to take a lot of time in going over these plans."

"I don't think you are correct with your description," objected Douglas.

Councilman John Barnard attacked the rezoning on four grounds:

1. The artist's rendition is different from the plans; it shows 15 buildings instead of 12.

2. There are two dead-end parking areas which could prove hazardous in emergencies.

3. The original Bay Hill concept was a beautiful one, but the over-all concept is being changed. "By the time we are through they'll be no resemblance."

4. Fire roads are only 12 feet wide.

Declaring that "I've been snookered too many times by artists' concepts," Christal moved that the council stick to the original plans and disapprove the rezoning.

Corey, on the other hand, asserted that the new shopping center plans were consistent with the original plan, which did, indeed, call for a small shopping center, at that very site.

"I hope the council will remember the benefits acruing from a shopping center," Corey declared. "Those who walk through Shelter Creek cannot help but be impressed with its beauty and landscaping. It isn't often that we have an opportunity to get such a development in our city."

"What I want to see," declared John Barnard, "is a developer put in something bigger and better . . . which would be a credit to San Bruno — not something to apologize for later. We have too many of those."

Planning Commissioner Bill Cox explained that the new plans show four more buildings, and a lack of parking.

This is denied by Douglas who claimed that the new plans show more parking per square feet of gross rental area.

The vote on the 7-11 rezoning was 3-1, with only Mrs. Margaret Kozkowski voting "no," but with Corey, who apparently did not vote, indicating his opposition to the rezoning.

The rezoning will not stop the grocery and liquor stores, now nearing completion, but it will now cause them to be nonconforming uses. If the stores were destroyed or needed extensive remodeling, a building permit would be denied.

Mrs. Terri Rasmussen of Dover Court, spokesman for the Crestmoor I residents who had asked for the rezoning, cited three reasons:

1. The Traffic Safety Council branded the project as resulting in an "obvious traffic hazard."

2. With the population of Shelter Creek (1,200 apartments), most of the business can be expected to come from shoppers who cross through the intersection from the apartment project.

3. The "public nuisance" that revolves around this kind of a business is not conducive to a first-class residential neighborhood.

She displayed a map of the intersection which would only be aggravated by anything bringing increased traffic, she averred.

Tonyt Salvo, 121 Dover Court, displayed a plot plan of the market. He showed how giant trucks unloading at 7-11 would have to unload by backing down a steep hill on a narrow street,

Bruno Park Meeting Set

A public hearing for discussion of the location of parks and open space area on San Bruno Mountain has been scheduled by the San Mateo County Planning Commission for today.

The 1:30 p.m. hearing will be held in the basement conference room of the Hall of Justice in Redwood City.

The hearing was requested by the Board of Supervisors following presentation of a recommendation of the Parks and Recreation Commission for acceptance of a 1040-acre park and open space area on the south side of Guadalupe Canyon Parkway in the saddle area of the mountain.

Error Costs Big Contract In Pacifica

A $33,800 bid mistake by the firm of Dunn and Gaulke cost them the contract to build an education facility for the Laguna Salada School District.

Trustees Thursday night released the firm from any obligation to perform under its low bid of $347,503 and awarded the contract to Armand Construction Company for $360,500 to build a trainable mentally retarded (TMR) facility.

Dunn and Gaulke was released from its bid because it was determined the firm had made an honest mistake in forgetting to provide for heating, ventilating and sheetmetal work.

Superintendent Jim Brien noted that all five bids received, even had Dunn and Gaulke included the $33,800 for heating, were well under state requirements.

The proposals included two alternate bids which provide for carpet, accoustical tile in the multi-purpose room, and vinyl wallpaper.

The trustees' action was based on advice of the district attorney.

In a letter to the trustees, it was pointed out that the $33,800 was "inadvertently omitted during the frantic last few minutes of bid time." It was also pointed out that to require the firm to abide by the bid would "create an unduly severe hardship."

City Employe Arrested on Gun Charge

In a strange twist of fate San Bruno city employe Douglas Eugene Palmquist, 26, is facing charges of assault with a deadly weapon filed by a motorist who also happened to be a San Bruno policeman.

Palmquist, on $2,000 bail, is scheduled to appear in court June 19.

According to police reports, it all started at about 12:30 p.m. Saturday when Officer Frank Young, off duty, was driving on Skyline Boulevard.

Young reported that another vehicle ran him onto a divider strip. He followed the car to the Pacific Heights Shopping Center where heated words apparently were exchanged.

At that point, according to Young, the other individual, later identified as Palmquist, of 3901 Colby Way, San Bruno, pulled out a pistol. Young left the scene.

However, on Monday, while on routine duty near the city's park, Young spotted his gun-toting challenger driving a city truck. He went over and arrested him. A .25 caliber automatic pistol was confiscated, police said.

Ryan Details BART Tax Loss Pitfall in D.C.

San Mateo County could lose $30,000 in BART property taxes annually if a legislative proposal that has gone virtually unnoticed since last January, and is now on the floor of the state assembly, passes.

Assemblyman Leo Ryan, Democratic candidate for the Eleventh Congressional District seat, disclosed this fact at a Friday morning press conference. In doing so, he had some harsh words for the bill's author, State Senator John A. Nejedly, from Walnut Creek in Contra Costa County.

Ryan said that during the Thursday afternoon assembly session in Sacramento Assemblyman Robert Crown of Oakland (who apparently is carrying Nejedly's bill as a favor) nonchalantly made mention "of a bill that has an effect on the taxes of BART property in San Mateo County."

Ryan said his ears perked up and he asked Crown to explain the bill a little more. When Crown did so, Ryan said Crown was "embarrassed" and let Ryan borrow the file which contains information on the bill.

"It authorizes the BART board of directors to arbitrarily take land owned by BART (which now primarily is the transfer station in Daly City) off the tax rolls," said Ryan, his fingers snapping at the proposal in his hand.

"Anyone who does this (authoring a bill that will affect a county he doesn't represent) without informing (representatives of the affected county) and puts it in writing has a lot to learn about the legislative process," said Ryan.

Ryan said his theory is that the legislation authored by Nejedley is meant to set a precedent that will affect the establishing of BART stations in Contra Costa County.

Ryan also took a verbal swipe at the makeup of the BART board of directors as "another example" of a San Francisco dominated entity "which shows colonialism toward San Mateo County. I'm sick of it," he said.

According to Ryan, the legislation was to be effective immediately. It had gone all the way through the senate and was ready for passage by the Assembly, but postponed when Ryan got wind of it.

"The proponents of the bill feel there is no reason to pay county taxes because the county (of San Mateo) will receive benefit from the station," said Ryan.

Ryan said the legislation information he was reading from the file also noted that Senator (Arlen) Gregorio was the only opposition "because he would lose $30,000 in taxes."

Ryan said the $30,000 may not be that much money to get so worked up about but he was primarily concerned "with the principle involved — the concept that they can play games without asking."

The congressional candidate said he intends to gather a force to kill the bill if he can't first persuade Assemblyman Crown to drp it.

Chamber Asks Boost In City Subvention

By JACK BIK

A request to increase the city subvention to the San Bruno Chamber of Commerce from $6,000 to $16,235 was heard Monday night by the City Council.

Some dozen local businessmen appeared to back up Chamber Mgr. Gerald Chandler's fund plea.

Chandler cited statistics to show that the city's revenues that are generated from business — business licenses, sales taxes, etc. — have risen, since 1966, from $373,000 to $870,000. Much of this increase, he claimed, was aided by the Chamber which sent information to inquiring businesses, including the Hapsmith Co. (Tanforan) and Bay Hill.

Yet, there has been no increase in the city's subvention since 1966, while all expenses have risen. The present 254 members pay $16,000 a year in dues, the highest dues charged in this area. Yet, the Chamber is hampered for lack of funds.

The $10,235 requested is needed, he said, for essential projects:

1. Additional general operating funds, $2140.

2. 10,000 four color maps, $1995.

3. Payment for half cost of plans for beautification of San Mateo Avenue, $1500.

4. A new city brochure with current information (last brochure printed in 1966), $1400.

5. A shop San Bruno campaign, $1000.

6. Funds necessary to produce a quality San Bruno Beauty Pageant (San Bruno spends least on its pageant), $1000.

7. A folding San Bruno exhibit for fairs, etc., $500.

8. Aggressive mail campaign to selected firms to consider San Bruno as a business location, $500.

9. Contract with Board of Equalization to provide sales data by shopping areas.

Councilmen referred the request to this week's budget sessions. City Manager Gerald Minford has already declined to recommend an earlier $1500 requested increase, but suggested that the city consider allowing the Chamber to use the Old Firehouse on San Mateo Avenue as a Chamber office, thus saving $2100 a year at no cost to the city.

In a similar request, James Jones, executive director of the

D.C. Firemen Save Youth

Somewhere in the North County there's a youth who undoubtedly is grateful to the Daly City Fire Department.

About 7:30 p.m. Sunday the department's Jay Hansen eased a youth ("about 14-years-old") down from a precarious perch about 200 feet below the top of a rock quarry off Guadalupe Canyon Road.

Firemen failed to get the youth's name. And the boy, apparently no worse for the experience, took off without a word.

Officials said it was necessary to do the rescue operation from Guadalupe Canyon Road because that route provided the only access to the youth.

More About San Bruno Chamber

San Mateo County Convention and Visitors' Bureau, appeared, to request San Bruno to join the bureau, paying it 12 per cent of the hotel-motel tax — a request which this year would come to $1300.

Mayor George Corey explained that San Bruno had withdrawn support from the previous convention and visitors' bureau which operated as part of the County Fair Board, because they felt that the old group was oriented toward San Mateo and did nothing for San Bruno.

"Can you show us how it would help San Bruno?" he asked.

Jones stressed that the new board is now separate from the Fair Board, has even moved its office out of San Mateo to Burlingame, and works as closely with the Daly City's Cow Palace as with the Fair Board. San Bruno, he assured them, would have the same voice as South San Francisco, which now contributes $9000 a year.

This request was also referrred to budget hearings.

A request by Ron Cuff of Rof-Cuf Productions for use of Capuchino gymnasium for a series of summer dances entailed quite a bit of discussion.

Cuff said that under safety regulations, the maximum number that could occupy the gym was 1600 persons. Fire Marshal Harper Petersen reported that, based on his talks with Gordon Young, vice principal of Capuchino, dances became crowded when there were 500 persons. He thus recommended a 600-person ceiling.

Cuff said he could not operate economically with such a ceiling. He claimed that Petersen misinterpreted Young, that Young did not mean that number was unsafe. Councilmen granted the dance permit, subject to final approval by Petersen, who will again confer with Young and Cuff.

In other business:

— The state's feasibility study on use of Sharp Park Road as a 380 alternative was set over until such time that Councilman Neil Christal reports that the state has an answer to State Sen. Arlen Gregorio's critical questions on the study.

— They adopted a resolution giving the county the portion of the Millbrae Spur located behind Parkview Terrace — subject to landslides — for incorporation into Junipero Serra Park. The other portion becomes part of City Park.

— A petition by 26 residents for a dip or stop sign on Huntington at Georgia Avenue was referred to the Traffic Safety Committee.

— Denied a request by the Hapsmith Co. for elimination of a requirement that they build a sidewalk along the south side of Sneath Lane in front of Sears. Hapsmith partner F. M. Nicholas claimed that sidewalks are not compatible with a regional shopping center because they constitute a hazard both to pedestrians and cars, there is no pedestrian traffic along Huntington or Sneath, and such sidewalks are seldom used.

Christal objected that walking is becoming more popular, and that he walks often around San Bruno and is appalled by lack of sidewalks along many streets, such as on San Bruno Avenue.

Mrs. Margaret Kozkowski cited the hardship entailed by cerebral palsy victims last weekend when they visited Tanforan and had no sidewalks they could use their wheelchairs on.

— The council, upon recommendation of Park and Recreation Chairman Polly Sandkulla, voted to refund $25 picnic reservation fees to all local groups upon showing that the grounds have been properly cleaned up.

More About Rezoning

Also testifying were Jim Prescott of the Crestmoor Park Improvement Association, and Robert Peters, a neighbor. The rezoning, they said, would have no immediate effect on the site but would affect the future, and would stop similar planning.

Owner Bob Berryman told the council he had innocently acted on the basis of what he thought the city wanted him to do, on the basis of his zoning. He and the firm he had an interest in owned the lot for 18 years, and it was zoned C-N for the past 15 years. He could have once built four homes before the grading, but now it was graded for just one. The rezoning, he insisted, would cut the value of his property by 50 per cent."

LAFCO Plans Own Bruno Mtn. Study

With reports concerning the sphere of influence for San Bruno Mountain coming from every side, the San Mateo County Local Agency Formation Commission decided Thursday to order its own study on the matter.

Development Research Associates, San Francisco, was named by the commission to undertake the study at a cost of under $10,000 and to submit a report within 90 days.

Brisbane, South San Francisco, and Daly City all are interested in annexation because of the development planned by Crocker and Company.

Because there have been a number of reports concerning the sphere of influence and annexation preference, the LAFC decided it would authorize its own study before making a recommendation.

The successful firm for the LAFC study was chosen from an initial field of 16 firms which submitted proposals.

In another action, the LAFC approved a resolution recommending approval of a request by the city of Brisbane for detachment of all property within the city limits from the Dimond Public Utility District.

The district has not complied with a request of the city for an election to accomplish the detachment of the property, about 35 acres of uninhabited area in the city of Brisbane, but also within the utility district.

85 Attend School Board Meeting in Millbrae

About 85 persons attended last week's meeting of the Millbrae School District Board of Education, held at Chadbourne School annex.

At issue was the continuance of the early age kindergarten program at Meadows School, the approval of a new bus schedule, and the request from classified employees for a four per cent general wage increase; a 1.5 per cent fringe benefit increase from $39 to $45 per month, and an adjustment of the salaries of school secretaries to make them comparable to those working in surrounding school districts and industry.

Top district salary for this group is now $642. The board approved the hike in fringe benefits, and an adjustment in the salaries of school secretaries to make their top salary $694. A four per cent increase was granted to all classified employees, which is included in the secretarial salaries.

The early kindergarten program, implemented at Meadows School since Sept. 1969, permits children under the regulation admitting age of four years and nine months to begin kindergarten. Twenty-four children are expected to participate in the program at the start of the semester, according to Meadows Principal Harold Cowan. Cost of the program must be borne by the district, as state funding is not available.

Trustee Doris M. Brown, learning that it would cost approximately $30,000, said she did not think it feasible without state aid and questioned taking the money from other programs for this.

Board President Remo Boragno remarked that if the district could not find $30,000 in a $4.2 million budget, there must be something wrong. "I don't know how to spend $30,000 in any better way," he added.

Trustee Dr. Gerald Poppers said it is more than likely that state funds will be forthcoming, and that he felt it would be unwise for the district to drop the program for its relatively small cost.

Trustee Theodore N. Dimitre questioned its impact upon the budget, and there was discussion of including other schools in the program, which Mrs. Brown felt would be prohibitive costwise.

Trustee Dr. Larry Foster moved that the program be continued at Meadows with a ratio of about 24 pupils per teacher and that Supt. Edward J. Muehlhausen begin initial efforts to add a class in another school to early-age kindergarten. The motion passed, with Mrs. Brown's vote dissenting.

The new approved bus schedule eliminates one of the district's five buses. During a discussion of the safety factors involved, the possibility of hiring paid traffic guards was considered.

Nearly two hours of the meeting, which lasted from 7:30 p.m. until after 1 a.m., was devoted to the Stull Bill, which requires that all teachers be evaluated on performance and pupil achievement, and that administrative staff also be evaluated.

Firemen Busy At Two Fires

Firemen first put out flames in the room of a 3-year-old daughter of Mrs. Betty Espinosa 31 Idlewild, in the Fairmont District. According to firemen, the little girl's desk caught on fire, apparently from the heat of a gooseneck lamp on it, and that set fire to a nearby bed and some clothing.

Firemen then made a run to the home of Ora Guinther, 324 Milagra Court, in the Pacific Manor District.

B of A Wins S.S.F. Bonds

The Bank of America was low bidder — with a 4.45 per cent interest rate — on South San Francisco's $600,000 general obligation water pollution control bonds.

Nine bids were received for the bonding of improvements of the wastewater treatment plant and outfall line to the Bay as required by the Water Quality Control Board.

Over the total payment period, at the 4.45 per cent rate, the city will be paying over $800,000 to finance the $600,000 project.

SSF Marina Accident

A 25-year-old Mountain View woman suffered abrasions to her left side Sunday when she got it caught between the side of a boat and piling as the craft was being docked at South San Francisco's marina, according to a police report.

Susan Jane Buller, who had been sitting on the edge of the boat dangling her feet over the side, was taken to Peninsula Hospital, Burlingame, where she was treated for abrasions and then transferred to Sequoia Hospital, Redwood City, officials said.

Bogatin Proves Science Not 'Impossible' Subject

Despite what many people believe, science today is not an impossible subject, as proven by Westmoor graduating senior, Eric Bogatin, who walked away with all science and math honors presented at the annual Awards Presentation held at Westmoor Thursday, June 1.

Most outstanding of the awards was a $5200 yearly scholarship to M.I.T. Along with this, Eric also received a $500 award from the Fannie and John Hertz Foundation as well as $100 from the fifth annual High School Physics Symposium, held at Santa Clara University.

Eric also competed in the American Association of Physics Competitive Test where he placed tenth out of fourteen entrants. The test, which covered all facets of Physics, was a very difficult one, with the top score being 57 per cent.

Eric is currently doing research independently as well as being a teacher's aide. While still a senior at Westmoor, he simultaneously attended Skyline College and has gained thirty units of college credit. In the fall, Eric plans to continue his education at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Daly City Sets Dance Classes

Local Knights Fight Abortion

At the Knights of Columbus State Convention recently held in Bakersfield, Grand Knight Thomas L. Curr of Marian Council No. 3773, presented a resolution demanding "protection of the unborn's right to life and pledging support for the sacredness of all forms of human life."

The resolution was authored by Curr and passed with the unanimous approval of the delegates to the convention. The resolution will now be presented to the delegates to the Supreme Convention, Knights of Columbus, to be held in Toronto, Ontario, Canada. The author reports that Marion Council sponsored the resolution because, "We as Knights of Columbus and Catholic men believe in the sanctity of all forms of human life and we feel it is our obligation to protect the lives of the unborn. We respect and support the ecologists' concern for the quality of life, but we reject the idea that abortion is the means to justify the end and we insist that reverence for life must hold primacy of place in such concerns."

Your child will get more out of a Baldwin MusicLab than just music.

He will get all the wonderful extra benefits of learning music. Music can help a child develop poise. In a Baldwin MusicLab the child is taught how to perform in front of an audience. His class is his audience His ability to concentrate is strengthened. Because he's in a class, chances are he'll concentrate harder on the work at hand; he wants to keep up with his friends.

The Baldwin MusicLab method can also help a child improve his reading skills; and his ability to reason. He is taught not only to play the piano, but to read the music, to create his own musical ideas, and to write the notes down on paper. So he's not just learning to memorize a bunch of meaningless notes, he's finding out, first-hand, what goes into making music. Something else. He'll have fun doing it.
Give your children the benefits of a music education.

Vows Exchanged By Peninsula Duo

Honeymooning in Canada before establishing a home in San Bernadino are Richard Park and his bride, the former Susan Miller.

The couple was married Saturday afternoon at St. Paulus Lutheran Church in San Francisco. The one o'clock ceremony was followed by a reception at Morales Hall in South San Francisco.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Miller and her bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Dorothy Park. Both families reside in South San Francisco.

The bride carried white miniature carnations and roses.

An Empire Victorian style lavender dress with lace trim was worn by Pamela Miller, her sister's maid of honor. Similar costumes in shades of pink were worn by the bridesmaids who were Marjorie and Barbara Miller, also sisters of the bride, Paula Lewycky and Lorraine Wilson.

A long sleeved pink chiffon frock was worn by Lauri McCann, the flower girl.

Spring flowers were arranged in the bouquets the attendants carried.

Best man duties were performed by Brian Watson and ushering duties were shared by Gus Stamates, David Hookin, Robert Bernal and Ed Aguilar.

The newlyweds are both South San Francisco High School graduates. Richard also is an alumnus of San Francisco State. He is now serving as a lieutenant with the U.S. Air Force. His brother, Joseph Park, is stationed with the Air Force in Spain.

Installation for Millbrae Women's Club Yesterday

New officers of the Millbrae Woman's Club were installed when the group met Tuesday for its final meeting of the season.

State P-TA Group Lauds Peninsulan

Mrs. Robert Obler of Millbrae has been honored by the California Congress of Parents and Teachers with a life membership and an honorary service award certificate.

The awards were presented to her by Millbrae School District Superintendent Edward J. Muehlhausen in honor of her outstanding service to youth in the community.

Jo-Ann Obler spearheaded a program last year to combat tooth decay in the district's schools. It is the only program of its type being conducted in the country.

Oceana Students' Spanish Prizes

The American Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese, Northern California Chapter gave an award of excellence to Armando in third-year level. Oceana High School was the only high school in the district to participate and win.

Mrs. Millie Machens is the chairman of the picnic today in Junipero Serra Park in San Bruno, and she was promised all that there will be a delicious luncheon served in the lovely, relaxed setting.

Mrs. Frank Specht, the publicity chairman for the club, notes that meetings and special events are being planned to run throughout the summer months and members, and prospective members, are invited to take advantage of these opportunities to enjoy regular get-to-gethers.

Everyone in the over 50 set is invited to enjoy the Senior Citizens' June Birthday Party on June 21. Special honorees at that gathering will be all members with birthdays in the month of June.

New officers will be taking over their posts in July and elections have been slated for June 28. Mrs. Blossom Setzekorn is the chairman of the nominating committee and Mrs. Aylie Anderson, Mrs. Myra Barr and Mrs. Marie Meyer are the members of the committee selecting the nominees for 1972-73. Senior Citizens who enjoy sewing or handicraft might be interested in making items to be sold at the Fall Bazaar.

According to Mrs. Specht the Westlake Seniors are planning to make this year's bazaar the best ever and many members are busy working toward this goal and will continue to work throughout the summer months. If you would like to help, call Mrs. Specht, 755-6299, for additional information.

MRS. CLIFFORD Taylor of Pacifica reports that there is a flurry of pre-vacation activity in the Church of the Good Shepherd parish.

Father Bernard Cummins, superintendent of schools of the archdiocese of San Francisco is scheduled to bring a message of extreme importance to members of the parish on this coming Sunday morning. Father Cummins will speak during the Masses at Church of the Good Shepherd at 9:30 a.m., 10:30 a.m. and at 12:15 p.m.

Mrs. Taylor emphasized that this appearance by Father Cummins is extremely unusual and that all persons with children registered in the parish school must be on hand to hear his message.

The parish school is comparatively new and only this past week celebrated the graduation of its first class of sixth graders. Members of the sixth grade class were treated to a "First Farewell Breakfast for Good Shepherd Students" by the members of the parents club. The breakfast was held in a local restaurant following a Mass celebrated by Father Peter Kelly.

All the sixth graders received a gold plaque marking the completion of their first six years of primary education and congratulations were bestowed on them by the principal, Sister Patricia Clare, and their teacher, Mrs. Stephanie Niven, Mrs. Taylor reports.

A CHAMPAGNE RECEPTION followed a concelebrated Mass marking the Golden Jubilee of Father Adalbert Gluszek on Sunday.

Father Gluszek, the assistant pastor of The Church of the Good Shepherd, was feted by more than 500 parishioner and friends in the parish hall.

Members of the Italian Catholic Federation, the Good Shepherd Parents Club, the Altar-Rosary Sodality and the Holy Name Club hosted the celebration. Mrs. Del Merlini was the general chairman and Mrs. Joanne Wynne was the co-chairman.

Mrs. Lucille Rentmeester and Mrs. Emil Arnold will represent the Pacifica senior citizens' group, The Fifty Plus Club, at the Annual San Mateo County Senior Forum Picnic to be held on June 23, in the San Mateo County Fair Grounds.

The pair were elected the outstanding Senior Citizens of Pacifica on the basis of the work they have done during the preceeding 12 month period.

Drum, Bugle Corps Set at SSF Stadium

A competitive drum and bugle corps field show, featuring California's leading marching units, will be held Sunday afternoon at South San Francisco High School football stadium.

The show is sponsored by The Conquistadors, the Northern Peninsula corps based in South San Francisco. It will be the only event of its kind in the San Francisco area this summer.

Seven competing drum and bugle corps, including the national champion Santa Clara Vanguard, will perform their distinctive field marching and maneuvering drills.

Following the contest in South San Francisco the Vanguard and several other corps in the show will be leaving for summer tours across the nation.

The Conquistadors, equipped with new instruments and much improved over the 1971 season, will be competing this season for the California state Class B title.

Drum and bugle corps competitions, fairly new in California, are standard summertime entertainment in the Midwest and East, where they draw thousands of fans. Each corps, with up to 125 members, performs its own distinctive field drill of precision marching, maneuvering and the music of bugles and drums.

The show is climaxed by a retreat ceremony in which all the corps march on the field together in a mass display of colorful flags and uniforms for the presentation of awards.

The Conquistadors, directed by Gene Sippel, one of the nation's leading corps instructors, have about 60 members from San Francisco and Northern Peninsula communities. The corps is sponsored by an independent parents booster club.

Visiting units, in addition to the Santa Clara Vanguard, will include the Stockton Commodores, the Sacramento Capitalaires, the Sunnyvale Knight Raiders, the Concord Blue Devils and the San Leandro Royalaires.

An admission donation of $2 for adults and $1 for children is being asked, and refreshments will be available at the stadium. The show starts at 1 p.m.

With summer here the produce departments have a colorful show of fresh vegetables and fruits. It behooves us to try some new ways to serve these vitamin rich and attractive foods. This first recipe uses fresh fruits in a delicious ambrosia.

In bygone days,, cooks served ambrosia as a symbol of outrageous luxury because of the rarity of its costly tropical ingredients. Today, this elegantly simple and simply elegant dessert is a welcome ending to any dinner because it's light and refreshing. Summer Ambrosia combines flaked coconut with fresh pineapple, orange sections, green grapes and rum extract for a truly ambrosial treat.

SUMMER AMBROSIA

1 fresh pineapple, cut in bite size pieces
¼ cup confectioners sugar
1 teaspoon rum extract (or ¼ cup rum)
1 and one-third cups (about) flaked coconut
3 oranges, sectioned
½ pound seedless grapes, separated into small bunches

Combine the pineapple with the fourth cup sugar; chill overnight. Sprinkle the one teaspoon rum extract or, if you prefer, one-fourth cup rum over the one and one-third cups coconut and toss to flavor coconut. Combine coconut, pineapple and the three oranges sectioned. Chill thoroughly. Serve garnished with the half pound grapes. Makes 6 to 12 servings.

We will go from this very fancy dish to use a more ordinary vegetable, cabbage, but it becomes fancy when combined with other vegetables and topped with a white sauce.

CABBAGE CAKE

1 cup celery, chopped
½ cup carrots, cut thinly
2 Tablespoons butter
5 cups shredded cabbage
1 cup white sauce
¼ cup bread crumbs

Melt the two tablespoons butter in large skillet, add the one cup chopped celery, half cup sliced carrots and cook about five minutes, until celery and carrots are tender. Add the five cups cabbage and cook about five minutes more. Prepare the white sauce, pour over vegetables and top with toasted crumbs.

Place the fourth cup bread crumbs in a skillet and heat stirring until crisp.

WHITE SAUCE

2 Tablespoons margarine
2 Tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Melt the two tablespoons butter in small sauce pan, blend in the two tablespoons flour until smooth. Add the one cup milk gradually, stirring constantly until boiling point is reached. Reduce heat and cook 3 minutes longer, add the fourth teaspoon salt and eighth teaspoon pepper.

For a delicious dessert, bake Grace's cake.

GRACE'S CAKE

1 cup shortening
2 cups sugar
6 eggs
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon nutmeg

Cream one cup shortening, add the two cups sugar gradually, creaming well after each addition. Add the six eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition.

Sift the two cups flour with the one teaspoon nutmeg and add to creamed mixture, beating as you add. Pour into well greased tube pan and bake in 350-degree oven for one hour or until cake tests done.

Cool in pan 10 to 15 minutes. With spatula loosen cake around edges. Place rack on top of cake; invert pan and rack together; then place rack on table. Remove pan. Place second rack lightly on bottom of cake; invert racks with cake to turn cake right side up. Finishing cooling.

Note: There is no leavening agent in this cake.

YOUNG NEAL POPPIN, of San Bruno, was among the students visited by Ralph Seely, United Crusade campaign volunteer, at the United Cerebral Palsy Association of San Mateo County, a Crusade-supported agency. Seely, of Hillsborough, is a vice president of United States Steel Corporation, and will this year head up the Crusader Group solicitations, one of four major campaign divisions, to raise funds to support some 200 agencies in the five Bay Area counties. As is any child's delight, a giant sheet of white paper was draped on the wall for the CP youngsters to express in water colors their creative ideas. Neal is one of 16 youths in the special San Mateo County CP program for after school recreation conducted in the Memorial Building of San Bruno Park.

Westmoor Junior Leaving For Summer in Colorado

Leaving June 25 on full scholarship for the Colorado School of Mines will be Westmoor junior Gary Boyd, to participate in their Summer Science Institute.

Sponsored by the NSF (National Science Foundation), all expenses for the stay at the institute, plus round trip air fare, are totally paid for, except for incidental expenses and Sunday meals.

Gary will spend six weeks at the school, located in Golden, Colorado, and will explore such fields as nuclear physics.

Through word of the Westmoor science department, Gary learned of several such institutes located across the nation. He sent for 36 applications, applied to 12 and was accepted by five. Colorado ranked high on the list because of their excellent science program.

Along with the advanced study, Gary will participate in field trips around the surrounding area. He will return August 18.

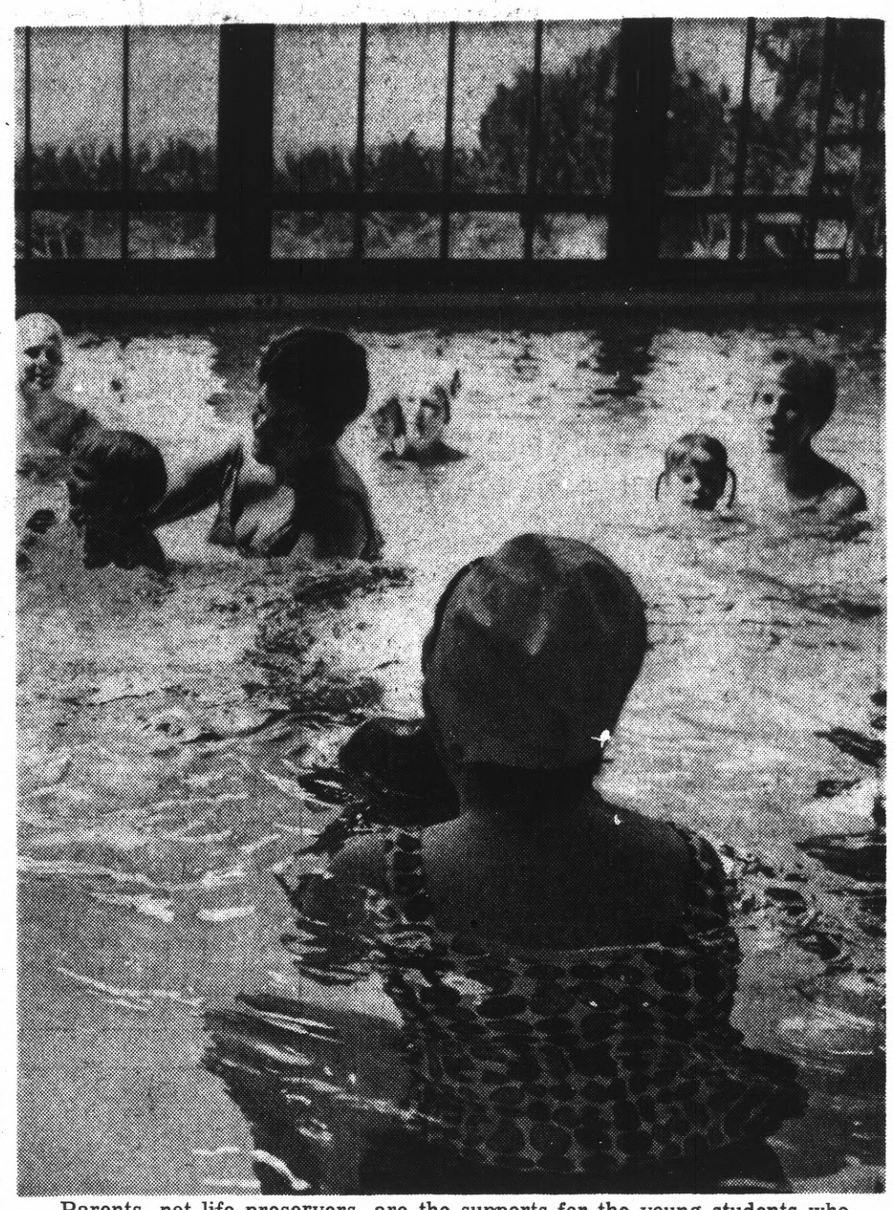
During class deck drill, students review their previous week's lessons with parents and children reversing their role as instructor.



Plastic animals, like those pictured, are used to keep the attention of the younger ones and to illustrate swimming techniques.

Parents, not life preservers, are the supports for the young students who are enrolled in Mary Fleming's Parent-Tot swim classes. The sessions are offered throughout the year by the South San Francisco Recreation Department.

Mary Learned to Walk Again by Swimming

By RO LOGRIPPO

It isn't easy to discourage Mary Fleming.

When half a dozen doctors told her 15 years ago she'd never walk again, she refused to believe them.

And when the same medical men warned her against swimming, she didn't heed their advice.

"I refused to be deactivated," Mary explained, "so I looked until I found a doctor who told me I could swim all I wanted to try to build up the muscles which had become atrophied from a skiing accident."

Inspired by someone else's confidence in her, Mary enlisted the aid of Olympic swim coach Charles Sava of San Francisco, author of "How to Teach Yourself and Your Family to Swim Well." For three hours a day the next two years Sava taught the Burlingame mother of three the sport she had first learned as a child in a mudhole in her native Iowa.

It wasn't all easy going, Mary recalls. There were many days when she tired from the lessons and from lifting the 40 pound leg weights her doctor had recommended. The exercise paid off, however, and she now walks without even a slight limp.

After regaining the use of her legs, Mary didn't stop taking lessons. Instead, she looked to Sava for further instruction.

"I wanted to become a female Charles Sava and teach others to swim so I asked him to tell me his swimming secrets," Mary said.

From the moment Sava agreed, Mary decided to direct her instruction to children. "So many youngsters drown needlessly every year," she noted recalling that an uncle and a childhood friend had both died from swimming mishaps.

"Their deaths stuck in my mind; they made me aware of the importance of knowing how to swim."

Mary realized her dream of saving lives through teaching swimming seven years ago when she was hired by the San Mateo Recreation Department to be a swim instructor for children.

In keeping with Sava's philosophy, Mary wanted to teach joint classes for parents and their children. She felt drownings and swim accidents among the young could be cut down considerably if each parent was his own child's swim instructor.

The concept was new at the time and recreation officials were reluctant at first to include parents in the course. They gave Mary a trial go-ahead, however, and were so pleased with the results and community response, they increased the number of her classes the following season.

Two years ago Mary left her post at the San Mateo Recreation Department to accept a job as aquatic specialist for the South San Francisco Recreation Department. Her "classroom" is now the Orange Memorial Park Pool and her adult students include housewives as well as male medical students.

(Anyone in the county may enroll in the nine week sessions which are offered once a week for a total cost of $5. The next classes start Tuesday and registration is Saturday.)

Mary also works as a field representative for the American Red Cross for whom she has done volunteer work the past 10 years. She gives a Red Cross Water Safety Instructors Course for adult swim instructors and also teaches teens to be summer swim aides.

The tots Mary teaches in the recreation department's course are in the three to six-year-old bracket. She doesn't instruct children under three because she feels it is difficult to teach a child under that age how to breathe properly in the water. "If a child can't breathe properly," she said, "his ears and eustachian tubes could be affected."

(The National Safety Council Water Safety Committee, the American Academy of Pediatrics, the American Medical Association and the Council for National Cooperation in Aquatics concur that organized swimming instruction programs for toddlers could be dangerous. The AAP reasons that "while infants can be taught to swim, it is questionable whether little ones can be taught water safety concepts and to handle themselves properly in an emergency.")

Most of the parents enrolled in Mary's classes already know how to swim. Of these, however, Mary is quick to point out that 98 per cent do not know how to breathe properly in the water and must be taught.

Mary occasionally has another problem with her students — coping with their fear of the water.

For parents who are afraid of water, Mary teaches a special course in the summer and fall called Fearful Adults. In it, she encourages parents not to transmit their fears to their children who are quick to imitate Mommy and Daddy's actions and feelings.

Perhaps the most fearful adult Mary has encountered so far was a woman who was even afraid of bathing in a tub of water. A psychologist had recommended she take Mary's course. "She overcame her fear gradually," Mary recalled, "and learned to swim mostly because she wanted her child to know how to handle himself in the water."

Several children also have been reluctant to go in the water. Among the students in one of her recent classes was a boy who was terrified to swim because he had seen his father almost drown.

Once Mary learned what the root of his problem was, she was able to gain his confidence. After five lessons he went in the pool on his own and his mother now reports she has a hard time getting him ashore.

"I don't force anyone to get in the water," Mary said. "When children are afraid, there's usually an underlying reason. You must get a child in a state of readiness before you teach him to swim or to apply water safety procedures."

To keep her younger students interested in the subject matter, Mary employs a variety of methods. "I use plastic toys and music for attention getters and I invent games which help them overcome their fears as well as instill a feeling of togetherness."

Practise at home is encouraged and Mary lets her students take turns teaching the previous week's lessons during a deck drill period.

Has Mary found one sex easier to teach than the other?

"Boys and girls learn about equally," she said, adding that boys respond more to flattery and are generally more affectionate.

Mary can tell by body build and attitude if a child has the potential to become a good swimmer. "Some start slow, balk, and then catch up to the others and do exceedingly well; conversely, some start fast, hit a plateau and then stop. This happens mostly if parents are pushy."

Throughout the course, Mary rates her students' progress with stars. If they put their face in the water, they rate a blue star; if they can also float and regain body balance, they receive a small gold star and if they can tackle all three plus swimming strokes they merit a large gold star.

At the completion of the Parent-Tot Swim class, there's an extra special award for youngsters — an ice cream gift certificate. Farrell's Ice Cream Parlour provides the prize for balloon race.

Although Mary doesn't have a pool at home ("I wouldn't want the liability") she does spend many of her off hours swimming with her husband, Richard, and their three daughters, Maureen, Kay and Janet.

"I never give pointers at family swim outings," she confided.

With all of her enthusiasm for the sport, it's hard to imagine anyone closely associated with her needing a shot in the arm to learn how to swim.

Wildest Storms Known to Man

Let's look at a classic, Peter Freuchen's "Book of the Seven Seas." When it was published some people read it because Peter Freuchen had won publicity as a contestant on "The $64,000 Question." That was fifteen years ago. Since then "The Book of the Seven Seas" has become a classic with people who love to read.

Notice how the opening paragraph of his account of the birth of the earth leads into his subject. "Once upon a time about two and a half billion years ago, a huge ball of flaming gases was thrown of by the sun and went whirling out into space. However the sun did not lose all control over it, but kept the fragment spinning in a regular obit around itself."

AS THE READER progresses through the book he will face the wildst storms known to men, observe the battles of the world's mightiest navies, and wrestle with sea monsters that frightened the most enlightened men of ancient times.

The reader of this book travels with Columbus and Captain Cook He stands knee deep in snow with Roald Amundsen and goes looking for the tragic "Mary Celeste" that lost its passengers at sea.

Throughout the book the reader will find that the author's "enthusiasm is contagious," as the Chicago Tribune reported, "and anyone who has ever done any wondering about the sea will enjoy exploring this book and discovering the answers."

"The Book of the Seven Seas" is the answer to the person who says he hates to read.

The author Peter Freuchen did the kind of things that other men dream of. In 1910 he sailed with Rasmussen to explore the northern part of the world. Later he traveled in Siberia and wrote a book that was condemned in both Russia and the Western world because it was too frank. Yet Freuchen believes it to be one of his best books. "I just told what I saw as I saw it."

FOR A PART of his life Freuchen managed a station in the northern most house in the world. While he was there he froze his left leg to such an extent it had to be removed. From then on, he traveled and explored new countires and wrote of his adventures or of the people he met. His works include fiction as well as non-fiction and have been translated into fourteen languages.

Each of his books makes excellent reading for the reader who seeks adventure.

Frank LaPierre is on vacation.

Synonymous With Sex

Carol Doda's name is so synonymous with sex that three charitable organizations turned down the offer to receive profits from opening night benefit show of her latest film.

"I'm not insulted," claims Producer Arthur Meyer, "they are charities I donate to anyway. And we are delighted that Plays for Living, to whom we used to lease our On Broadway Theatre to have accepted to be a part of our benefit opening.

"After all, they're dedicated to instructing the public about mental health and we all know that sexual frustration is one of the causes of mental sickness."

The film in question is "The Rise and Fall of the Entire World as Seen From" and will preview Wednesday at the Presidio Theater. While the opening is invitational, some flush and sporty gentleman paid $250 to the KQED auction to accompany its star, the buxom Miss Doda to the theater.

Carol is a local institution: Tourists request seeing her, localites know her from her years as a Broadway (between Columbus and Montgomery) headliner. She's a good sport, having been shuttled from club to club from her early pre-silicone days as a cocktail waitress at the Condor, through a slow rising career as a performer and finally Queen of the Topless circuit and back now at the Condor.

"I always wanted to be an entertainer, back to the days when I picked prunes in the Napa Valley for 30 cents a box. I didn't know how to break into show business except by nudity and now after five years of studying singing and dancing I'm making films.

"I bring a lot of publicity to the street and my salary keeps going up. When I'm old, I want to be like Mae West."

I assume she means legendary. Or maybe she means still in the public eye. One is not always clear about what Carol means. She talks freely and with an open-minded candor but there is a natural naivete and innocence about her (one of her charms) that makes everything come out sounding kooky.

Her opinions on the war, politics and sex are fairly hilarious. But she speaks seriously and doesn't mean to be cute or facetious.

Since her bus-expansion operation in 1965, she has taken herself and her obligations as an entertainer seriously.

"There are a lot of lonely people in this world. I take the time to talk with people who come to see me in the club and make them feel at home. As for marriage, I believe in it because I've been going with the same guy now for four months and we still like each other. He says he understands about my work."

Her private life includes working out at a gym four times a week, eating only vegetables, sketching and studying. She says she isn't domestic and eats out every night.

Executive Response To Mob Violence

Executive action used as a response to mob violence is, at best, a constitutional anomaly. Constitutional lawyers disagree as to whether the ordering of militia into service suspends existing civil government or merely recognizes that such means make up the only power by which the functions of disrupted civil government may be continued.

The California Constitution is typical of those of all but one state: "The Governor shall have the power to call forth the militia to execute the laws of the State, to suppress insurrections, and to repel invasions."

American constitutions, state and federal, carefully delegate, divide, and separate power, and protect and reserve to the people certain rights. But the drafters of constitutions also realized that government must be able to protect itself. Thus, the ultimate in executive action can be employed by one man without a constitutional requirement of concurrence by others, and in practice the power has had the effect of at least temporarily superseding such protected rights as free speech and free assembly.

Justice Holmes once wrote that a provision for the calling out of troops to suppress insurrection meant that the Governor "shall make the ordinary use of soldiers to that end; that he may kill persons who resist and, of course, that he may use the milder measure of seizing the bodies of those whom he considers to stand in the way of restoring peace."

Such power has been abused by wilfull men. In other states it has been foolishly applied in perfectly peaceful situations: for example it has been used to remove members of a state highway commission, to influence a primary election, to close a race track after earlier non-military means had been declared illegal, and to curtail the drilling of oil wells. Moreover, the military arm of state governors has often inappropriately responded to circumstances of legitimate necessity (e.g. Kent State).

The United States Supreme Court has ruled that military force cannot be used in the absence of an emergency, but there is little in case law to indicate just what constitutes an emergency, or what steps are permissible once it is determined that an emergency exists. Generally it can be concluded that Governors have great latitude in declaring insurrection and that almost any means may be used to suppress it. In plain English, the executive power in the first instance is as strong as the troops called upon to carry out its demands.

In California, the ability of public authority to respond to civil disorder is frequently tested. Here, state and local governments have cooperatively developed a system of flexible management that avoids most of the risks of overreaction.

It foundation is local control. With improved training and equipment local enforcement officers can often handle difficult riot situations. Should these forces be insufficient, the resources of nearby cities and counties can be mobilized through the state's system of mutual aid response (The state is divided into seven regions for this purpose). In addition, up to 50 per cent of the highway patrol officers within a region can be drawn upon, and state equipment and communications are made available.

The Governor is empowered to declare a general or local emergency and has available multiple options short of calling out troops. Furthermore, in practice, state action is triggered by the request of a ranking local official: a Mayor, Chairman of a Board of Supervisors, or Chief Law Enforcement officer.

In this manner, control of riots is kept as close as possible to the local scene, and the ordering of militia into service can be used as a last resort. This reasoned system, based partly in law and largely in sensible cooperation and restraint, avoids, in the State of California, most of the dangers of hasty and overly zealous emergency action. The violent, who cannot win in the streets are thereby deprived of the opportunity to force constitutional government to do violence to itself.

Volunteers Of the ACS To Be Feted

More than 100 American Cancer Society volunteers will be honored at the annual ACS recognition luncheon on June 28.

Another Tiger Tales Award

"Tiger Tales," Terra Nova's quarterly magazine, has received an "All-Columbian" honor rating from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

Twelve high schools across the nation, including "Tiger Tales", were chosen as outstanding in advertising display for 1972 by a CSPA board. Terra Nova's magazine was the only school from the west selected in this category of competition.

In the April issue of the "School Pres Review," it was pointed out that these honorary ratings were to "encourage work in selected fields and to call attention to commenable effort within the publications themselves." Other specific categories rated were in headlines, news stories, editorials, photography and creative literary work.

South City Teen Centers

The 1972 summer evenings will have opportunities for both junior and senior high school students to attend any one of several teen center areas around South San Francisco.

The teen only areas will be run by the South San Francisco Park and Recreation Department in both recreation buildings and Junior High Schools. All areas are staffed by department Recreation Leaders and no fee is charged to participants.

Square Dance Class in SSF

Lopsided Score Mark Softball Play in D.C.

Some very exciting but lopsided scores characterized the start of the Daly City Recreation Division's Adult Softball League play.

In the Industrial Division, the Nestle team defeated Canco 16-6. Mike Stugeons with three triples and a homer led the winners' hitting attack. Bill Mahoney contributed two doubles and a three-run homer for Nestle. Sierra Ski 'n' Dive downed the Blankers 20-5 with Charlie Smithson going five for five and John Cannon four for five for the winners.

Bobby Nolan cranked up two big honors to aid the victory for Sierra Ski 'n' Dive. The Nestle team came back to win their second consecutive game by crushing the Blankers 26-2.

Nestle was led to this victory by the solid hitting of Rick Clatts and Marino Pieretti's base running. Canco won their first game of the new season by outlasting J. C. Penney's 24-15.

Outstanding hitting was delivered by Larry Fiornelli, Jess Rendon and Rich Melodia. The Travelers edged Sierra Ski 'n' Dive 7-6 in the most exciting game of the new season. Bob Bisio played a great defensive game that stopped two potential Sierra rallies.

In the final game of this week's play, the French Athletic Club filed notice on the IRS of their intent to be a strong contender in the Industrial League play by downing IRS 18-5.

Bob Constslot and Gene Ladrech both went three for four and Bob Pechovltnes hit a solo homer for the winners.

Flowers Is MPL Golf Champion

Burlingame golfer Mark Flowers wrapped up the MPL finals crown rather early yesterday afternoon. He blazed through the front nine at Green Hills Country Club in three under 33.

All he had to do was finish the round, as at that point he held a whopping 11-shot lead over teammate Jeff Thom. Flowers was four over on the final nine of his high school career, but it didn't matter as he still won by nine shots.

Almost all of the scores were extremely low owing to the perfect course conditions and the weather being warm and clear. Out of the players competing, nine of them managed to shoot in the seventies. Flowers again topped the list with a one over 72. Two other golfers shot 75's.

Doug Remensberger, playing over his home layout, shot a 75 to give him third place with a 317 total. Kelly Whelan of Aragon had the other 75 to finish in fifth place. Cap's Dave Ware, also competing on his home layout, skied to an 81, but it was still good enough for fourth place.

Two golfers tied for sixth place at 322. San Mateo's Dave Ellison, who was the average leader going into the finals, completed a disappointing fourth round for him. A 77 only gained a tie with Aragon's Mike Mulhearn who shot a 78.

The top six golfers mentioned, Flowers, Thom, Ware, Remensberger, Whalen, Mulhearn and Ellison comprise this year's MPL all-league golf team. Each year the members are determined by the outcome of the finals and since there was a tie for sixth, seven members were named.

Tigers Start Slo Pitch Loop

The 1972 Women's Slo Pitch Softball League opened league play at Westlake Park — South Diamond on Sunday.

Four teams are currently involved in the league which is sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department.

The Toyota Tigers got off to a strong start with a 20-2 win over the Salt and Peppers. Competent pitching by Kathy Henrado and Candy Pastori was backed by fine hitting to overwhelm the Salt and Peppers. Triples with bases loaded were credited to Claire Anderson and Cherye Brennick.

Daly City Datsun Volvo made a good attempt at producing a shut-out against Open Road Rec Vehicle with a final score of 13-1. Datsun-Volvo was led to victory with Nadine Ergbrigtsen at bat and Kathy McBride in the field. As pitcher for Open Road, Marilyn Schnake struck out four batters and a final rally scored the single run to spoil the shut out.

League play will continue on Sunday afternoons with games scheduled at 1 and 2:40 p.m. Public is invited.

Women who are interested in playing in the league should call Katherine Bradshaw, Recreation Supervisor at 992-5356 for further information. Team members are needed.

Brodie Needs Some Insight

Just in case you pigskin fanatics can't wait for the few more days until the opening of the pro football season, we herewith offer as an appetizer a unique letter from one of our frequent correspondents, J. Lamar Buq-Buq (pronounce Buk-Buk). The letter was inspired by an accompanying clipped article entitled "Scientology and Brodie," by the Religion Writer of a San Francisco daily. It dealt with 49er quarterback John Brodie's complete emersion in the psychologically-oriented religion-like philosophy of Scientology, a controversial "science" which purportedly has something to do with spiritual awareness and which sounds to us like a sort of over-reverent course in the power of positive thinking. But on to Buk-Buk's letter:

"Sir:

"For years we have watched John Brodie outdistance the speediest of the opposition in his frequent mad dashes to the sidelines and have, to be honest about it, admired him for his fleetness of foot. What a marvelous thing it would be, we mused, if we could somehow turn the football field around, so that the sidelines became the goal lines. And the words would be heard over and over again, 'Brodie is over the goal again. And nobody laid a hand on him!' O, Joy!

"Now we read that through Scientology, Mr. Brodie has attained an awareness of himself as a spiritual human being. His awareness must be intense, for he is an "Operating Thetan," and we are certain that titles so grand are not conferred lightly. But we hope that Mr. Brodie won't be satisfied with just an awareness of himself as a human being. We think he would do well to achieve some insight into himself as a football player.

"We feel that Mr. Brodie should ask himself the question: 'Why do I run so much more rapidly and so much more frequently towards the sidelines than I do the goal lines?' If he ever achieves enough insight to answer that question honestly he would quit football.

"Hardly Award, J. Lamar Buq-Buq"

RANDOM BASEBALL THOUGHTS: All the Perry-McDowell trade has proved to us is that the National League is, indeed, stronger than the American League.

So you think the Giants make bad trades? How about the Yankees giving up promising and already reasonably successful pitcher Stan Bahnsen for third baseman Rich McKinney, who immediately sets major league records for fielding inefficiency, barely hits .200 (without power), and who is now back in the minors.

We lamented the possibility, recently, of Willie Mays playing just long enough to lose his lifetime .300 batting average, but it looks as if Al Kaline has already done it. He started the season at an even .300 following sub-.300 seasons of .287, .272 and .278, and the last time we looked at this year's stats, he was wallowing in the low .200's. At age 37 and hampered by constant nagging injuries, Kaline isn't in exactly the best position to make a comeback. A sad ending for a man who virtually began his career being the youngest player ever to win a batting championship.

With all the troubles the Giants are having this year, they stand an outside chance of doing something very rare in baseball — leading the majors in both homeruns and stolen bases. They are second in stolen bases to Cincinnati.) Only the 1904, 1912, and 1917 Giants, the 1955 Dodgers and the 1938 Yankees have done it. And they're already almost a cinch for an equally as rare a feat — more than 100 stolen bases and 100 homeruns in a single season.

NOW, IF ONLY baserunning skill could be equated in terms of number of stolen bases. Because the Giants may be the WORST team in baseball in baserunning skills other than stolen bases. The things they do on the basepaths that don't go in the box scores are among the factors that are killing them this year. They HAVE to hit homeruns, because that way they get a free trip around the bases unimpeded by possible enemy strategy.

And it wouldn't surprise us to see a Giant one day figure out a way to goof on the basepaths while running out a homer — like miss homeplate, or something. Indeed, if the Giants could figure out some way to steal bases and score runs while keeping off the base paths, they could still win the pennant.

Individually the Giants are also compiling impressive statistics. As this is written, not only does Dave Kingman lead the majors in homers and RBIs, he's tied for the top spot in triples. Additionally, Chris Speier is tied for the NL lead in doubles, while Bobby Bonds, Tito Fuentes and Gary Maddox are all tied for second place.

We wonder if Bowie Kuhn realizes, or cares, that the new double-knits many of his teams wear are see-throughs. Yes, girls, take a close look and you may see your favorite player's boxer shorts outlined against his tanned skin.

Once players realize the commercial value of see-throughs, one can easily envision sartorial dandies such as Joe Pepitone making his comeback in lace panties. Such a fashion trend might even coax Hawk Harrelson off the golf course and back into the horsehide fold. We suppose it could all end up with Charley Finley dressing his players in ostrich fans, as you like them.

Speaking of Charley Finley, you may discount that rumor that the Cadillac given Chairman Breshnev by President Nixon was the one discarded by Vida Blue. You're crazy if you thought a shrewd politician, in an election year, would lay himself open again for all those old jokes about Nixon and used cars.

It occurred to us the other day that the reason why there are so few left-handed throwing outfielders with shotgun arms is because almost any lefty with a truly powerful arm who isn't an outstanding hitter, is made into a pitcher.

Another truism, which has formulated itself in the process of our too often having seen pitchers and seventh and eighth place hitters getting key hits off careless hurlers. The truth is that under the right circumstances (ie, getting "their" pitch or being alert to a pitcher unconsciously letting up), almost every man who makes the major leagues is a dangerous hitter to varying degrees: including pitchers.

Sure, there are the Ron Herbels of the world, but big league players are all inherently good athletes and in almost every case were dangerous hitters in high school, college and semi-pro ball. Witness how many outstanding pitchers in the latter levels bat in the middle of the lineup and play first base or the outfield when they're not pitching. The reason why they lose much of their batting skill when they move into pro ball is because they are paid to be specialists, and if they can pitch better than they can hit, they are compelled to concentrate all of their efforts on pitching. Thus, they get very little and, except in rare cases, NO serious batting practice.

Thus, letting up on a supposedly weak hitter can get a pitcher in trouble in the same way a professional basketball player can get burned if he relaxes because he assumes that his play-making opponent averaging six points a game can't shoot. Chances are that the

Students to Have Roles In Sabbath

The students of the Hebrew School, who completed the school year today at Congregation B'nai Israel, will participate in the Sabbath Services on Friday.

The service will be conducted by Cantor Henry Greenberg, assisted by members of the Religious Practices Committee and will begin at 8:30 p.m.

The children will display their knowledge of Hebrew by reading prayers that are traditional in the service. The Hebrew School instructors are Mrs. Daniella Ittelman, Mrs. Gary Rechnitz and Mr. Joseph Kornfeld. Saturday morning services will be held at 10 a.m. on June 17 and will also be conducted by Cantor Greenberg.

At 8 p.m. that evening, Bette Ehrlich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Ehrlich of Foster City, will become Bat Mitzvah during Ma'ariv and Havdalah Services. These services conclude the Sabbath just past and are among the most beautiful as they utilize candlelight. Seated along the aisles, holding candles, will be relatives and friends of Bette, all young people.

Rabbi Emeritus Solomon A. Shore and Cantor Henry Greenberg will conduct the services. Additional participants in the service will be A. Arthur Hirschhorn, president of Congregation B'nai Israel, who will present Bette with the traditional prayer book and Mrs. Abe Mordokowicz, president of the Sisterhood, who will give Bette candlesticks of her own for Sabbath candlelighting.

A prayer book will also be donated to the Congregation in Bette's honor by a representative of the Men's Club, President Stanley Spinrod. Mr. and Mrs. Ehrlich, along with their other two children, will host a reception following services.

On Sunday, according to President Marian Fisher, the Student Body of the Religious School will sponsor a Father's Day Picnic for the families and friends of Congregation B'nai Israel.

The picnic will be held at Roncondada Park in Palo Alto and will feature swimming, games, and prizes. Donation is $1 for adults and 50 cents foe children under 14.

ball handling specialist now swishing his third straight basket averaged 20 points a game in college. Professional basketball players who can't shoot at all are as rare as the Ron Herbels of the baseball world.

We have this recurring dream. Some team, the Dodgers or the Yankees, or maybe even the Boston Celtics, keeps retiring the numbers of their great players and run out of numbers so that eventually their contemporary players are labeled 5-a, 44-b, 3-c, etc.

Remember a few weeks ago we told of how certain Southwest college athletic factories are now including girls in their fringe benefit inducements to high school super-stars? Some of you were indignant over such a practice. But don't worry. We've just discovered that the girls are getting three units college credits toward human relations degrees.

Our nomination for baseball's most frustrating current individual statistic: Baltimore outfielder Don Buford had scored 99 runs for three consecutive years. He's never tallied 100.

Broadmoor Man Dies of Gun Wound

A 31-year-old Broadmoor man died of an apparent self-inflicted gunshot wound late Thursday at his North County home.

Broadmoor Police Chief Ray Savage said Paul Hekking, of 820 Larchmont Drive, was found in the house with a single bullet wound in the head at about 8 p.m.

According to the chief, a .38-caliber revolver was by his side, and a note addressed to his wife was found nearby.

Police were called to the scene by a neighbor who evidently heard a shot, said Savage. An officer entered the home through an unlocked front door.

The case is being investigated by the county coroner's office.

College Student Found Dead in San Bruno Jail Cell

A 19-year-old San Bruno youth who was arrested June 6 on suspicion of drunkenness was found hanging dead in a cell at the San Bruno city jail two hours later.

The suspenders of his bib coveralls were tied around his neck and the legs of the coveralls tied to the bars eight feet up from the floor.

Dead on arrival at Peninsula Hospital after Community Officer John DeBattista discovered him in a half standing and slumped position was Frank M. Robertson, 19, of 957 Mills Avenue.

According to police and coroner's reports, the youth was arrested for drunkenness at 6:45 p.m. on San Antonio Avenue near the Southern Pacific spur tracks drinking beer.

Lt. Fred Frates reported although Robertson had a 10-speed bike with him, he could not stand up.

He was placed in a cell at 6:45 p.m. by Officer Larry Clifford. When the cell was checked at 7 p.m. he was asleep. At 7:30 p.m., however, officers heard him whistling.

At 8:50 p.m. DeBattista checked the cell and discovered Robertson hanging in a slumped position with his feet touching the floor.

A fire department resuscitator squad was unable to revive him.

Officers said Robertson was a student at Skyline College and was arrested a month ago for possession of narcotics paraphernalia.

Fake Birth Papers Found in Coast Home

A search of the home of Velma Alexander, a 22-year-old childless Pacifica woman who made three applications for aid for dependent children in San Mato County while she was already receiving aid for non-existent children in San Francisco, turned up paraphernalia to manufacture birth certificates.

According to District Attorney Inspector Donn Ferrero, who arrested the Pacifica woman at her home at 1152 Seville Drive on June 2, Mrs. Alexander made an application for aid for dependent children for an unborn baby at San Mateo County welfare healquarters in San Mateo on May 3. This time, he said, she used the assumed name Pat Edwards and the address of 14 St. Mary's Court, San Mateo.

On May 9, she returned, this time making an application for an unborn child, but using the name Anna Oliver and the San Mateo address, Ferrero reported.

She returned the following day, and, using her correct name and address, submitted San Mateo County and Louisiana birth cirtificates to prove the existence of two non-existent children, Ferrero said.

An investigation was started and disclosed she was already on an aid for dependent children for one child and one unborn child in San Francisco, according to Ferrero. He said when he searched her house after arresting her on two felony counts of welfare fraud he found the machinery to print the birth certificates.

Mrs. Alexander was later released on $1,000 bail, and is scheduled to appear in Northern District Municipal Court at 10 a.m. on June 14.

Record Number of Delegates to Session

The Daly City Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses is sending the most delegates ever to its semiannual Circuit Assembly, L. C. Garabedian, chairman of Overseers, reports.

In aldition to increasing by 59 active member - workers to a present total of 129 within three years, the group has contributed 35 members to a recently formed Skyline Congregation, he reported.

Garabedian attributed the expansion to the unique pattern of home visits congregation members all take part in.

The three-day Circuit conclave, June 16 - 18 at the East Bay Richmond Auditorium, will feature seminars on this continuing neighborhood service project Garabedian said.

It will also demonstrate a further reason for the organization's winning and holding new adherents, he added.

"That is our insistence on making organization adapt to the needs of individuals instead of having a de-personalized 'ministry to the masses,' " he stated.

Highlight of the East Bay gathering will be the public Bible discourse at 3 p.m. Sunday: "Are You Marked for Survival?"

Pacifica's New Park Chief

A 36-year-old ornamental horticulturist from Placentia has been hired as park superintendent in Pacifica.

Jack Dierberger is scheduled to begin work June 19. He holds a bachelor's degree from Cal Poly, Pomona, and also has a California landscape license.

Dierberger formerly worked as a landscape contractor for seven years and was park foreman in Newport Beach for three years.

He most recently was park superintendent in Placentia for three years and supervised the construction and development of five neighborhood parks.

In addition to Dieberger's hiring, Pacifica also hired a new senior recreation leader-youth coordinator.

She is Karen Norton, a San Jose State graduate with past experience with Menlo Park, Cupertino and Gilroy.

Miss Norton will supervise all the teen program activities of the department and work on special projects with the Youth Advisory Commission and teen councils.

D.C. Man Found Dead

Police and coroner's officials today were investigating the death Thursday of Donald Alberigi, 30, of 49 Crocker Street, Daly City, whose body was found in a sleeping bag on a water bed on the floor of his apartment by a neighbor who had come to take him to a doctor.

According to officers, Alberigi had been in a fight several days ago and had suffered a black eye and swollen lip. Some 10 vials of various types of pills found in Alberigi's apartment were taken to the coroner's laboratory for analysis, however.

Officers reported a resident of the same apartment, Gene Anderson found Alberigi's body at 2:15 p.m. when he came to take him to the doctor's.

Alberigi, who was unemployed, is survived by his father, Aldo, of Daly City. Funeral services are pending at the W. C. Lasswell mortuary in Daly City.

Wrong Way On RR Track

San Brunan James Edward Moore made a wrong turn Thursday that stopped a train—and did major damage to his car, too. He was not hurt.

Traveling southbound on First Avenue in San Bruno Moore saw what he thought was an intersection and turned right. He was wrong. The car was stuck on Southern Pacific tracks.

Police said Moore attempted to get the car off the tracks. "He was just spinning his wheels," as one officer put it.

Moore decided he'd better seek help. He got out of the car to get aid and within five minutes a northbound midnight commuter train struck the left rear of the vehicle, about 50 feet south of the Angus Avenue intersection.

The 51-year-old Moore was forced to find other transportation to his home at 288 Mastick Avenue. His car was towed away, police said.

What is beef quality?

If the beef you prepare is tender, properly trimmed, has no excess fat and is delicious to eat . . . that is quality.

At Lucky we have our own quality standards . . . standards that are specifically designed for our customer's needs and satisfaction.

Lucky beef is carefully selected from young tender beef, weighing from 550 lbs. to 650 lbs., that have a minimum of excess fat. We purchase beef to these specifications regardless of the U.S. Grade. Some U.S. Choice is too fat and wasteful to be selected for Lucky private label. Like all other private label items, we believe our beef offers you the best value for your money.

Actually, the "grades" of beef were established in 1916, not as a buying guide for consumers, but rather in the attempt to develop a market news reporting service for economists and statisticians. The Government trains and employs experts, men who inspect and grade beef all over the country. Their job is to protect the consumer and retailer. We are pleased to have U.S.D.A. Inspectors within our own meat plants.

During the last 10 years, there has been a definite change in consumer meat demands. The consumer's tastes have changed from fat beef to a more lean, tender beef. As yet, there has not been a corresponding adjustment in the breeding and feeding of cattle to compensate for this consumer preference.

Recognizing this change in eating habits, Lucky buyers select beef that they believe will satisfy our customers by being lean, tender and flavorful. They select beef carcasses that have youth for tenderness and a minimal amount of fat.

Of course Lucky buyers select beef after it has been government inspected, but before it is graded. (For example, conformation of the carcass is a grading factor, but conformation has nothing to do with eating quality.) Lucky buyers look for beef that will be consistently excellent . . . beef that is youthful for maximum tenderness, and for a minimum amount of fat (marbeling) to insure fine flavor. Lucky meat buyers want you to have beef that you can serve with pride and confidence anytime . . . anyday.

When all is said and done, grades of beef are guidelines for the buying and pricing of meat. Lucky Unconditionally Bonded meat is our guideline for offering complete satisfaction to our customers . . . offering the maximum of flavor and tenderness in every piece of meat you buy.

You be the judge. Lucky offers over 300 cuts of meat at low, everyday discount prices, backed by an unconditional money-back guarantee of satisfaction.

A Decoration For CSUSF's Don Garrity

Liberian decorations of distinction were awarded a member of San Francisco State University (formerly S.F. State College) recently in Monrovia as the West African country concluded its ten-year contract with the college to develop a consolidated school district in the capital city.

Liberian Vice President James E. Green made a presentation of The Order of the Star of Africa upon Dr. Donald L. Garrity of Daly City, the vice president for academic affairs and a professor of sociology.

Vice president Garrity lauded the "distinguished dream," which the Liberians had conceived and carried out. He stated that the college functioned only to help bring realization.

San Francisco University has been instrumental in training Liberians for all aspects of public school work; some 84 of its educators have studied at the campus.

Postage Stamp Pocket Book At Post Office

A 224-page pocket book that dramatizes America's heritage through the medium of postage stamps can be purchased by means of order blanks that are now vailable at the Daly City Post Office, according to Postmaster Vincent P. Murphy.

The book — "Stamps & Stories" — is available for $2 plus a 50-cent handling charge It contains information on starting a stamp collection, reproductions of stamps in full color, key facts about stamps and present values to collectors.

"These books," Postmaster Murphy said, "carry the reader on an eventful journey from Columbus' discovery of America to the Apollo 15 landing on the moon."

He urged stamp collectors and those interested in becoming collectors — especially youngsters — to place their orders as soon as possible if they want to benefit from "Stamps & Stories" initial, but limited press run.

Leo Ryan Likens 'IBM Affair' to ITT Case

What Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan (D-S.S.F.) is calling "The IBM Affair" was unveiled last week with a resolution he introduced in the Assembly to block a $7 million exclusive contract to the giant computer and communications firm.

This "affair" is looking more all the time like the federal ITT case, Ryan said, without elaborating.

Three weeks ago Ryan discovered a $7 million contract with IBM that he claimed the state issued outside of normal legal channels. No announcement of the proposed purchase of computers was made nor was any competitive bidding allowed by other companies, Ryan sid.

Ryan's resolution, HR 63, demands an immediate study of the contract and, in a precedent-setting move, urges the members of the conference committee on the budget not to approve any funds for the computers unless competitive bids are required.

Ryan said he learned the contract was to be funded by a Bill being presented to the Assembly Ways and Means Committee of which he is a member.

"Now it appears that the money will be added to the state budget behind the closed doors of the conference committee," said Ryan, "and the bill will be dropped."

The IBM Corporation, which already has 65 per cent of the nation's computer business, apparently would be given a competitive edge which would freeze out other corporations such as Honeywell, Univac and others, Ryan stated. "This sounds like the same kind of inside arrangement in the recent ITT hearings which amounts to an attempt to destroy competition and which is the opposite of the free enterprise system," Ryan said.

"Whether it is big business or big government, the result is the same. The big outfit, which is usually heavier, slower and more inefficient, beats out the little guy who must stay lean, aggressive and cost-conscious to survive. The result of such tactics means less competition and less responsiveness to the customer's needs — and in this case, the customer is also the taxpayer," he went on.

"If my sources are correct, the taxpayers may lose substantial sums of money if the administration has its way," Ryan said.

Ryan added, "I hope that this doesn't become yet another case of a Republican Administration playing favorites with a powerful American company at the taxpayer's expense."

The one-company contract surfaced as part of an administrtaion plan to centralize California's computer system.s

EXECUTIVE CHEF — Credit much of the remarkable success of the Stickney Hick'ry House chain to Executive Chef, Bill Pickering. An 11-year veteran with the skein of restaurants, he presides at the Redwood City commissary where all salad dressings, barbecue and other sauces, soups and stews are created.

SMILING AND SHINING, Linda Ritter, 17, was chosen "Miss Burlingame of 1972, during the city's annual Community Awards Dinner. A student at Peninsula High School in San Bruno, she hopes for a future in social work or psychology, teaches modern dancing at school, has studied belly dancing and art. "Thank you, I'm very, very happy," she said on receiving the award. (Post Photo)

Steve Romano Combo Wed. Thru Sun. at Nick's

The cuisine is entirely different at The Moonraker, a Nick Gust owned-operated restaurant that takes full view advantage of the beautiful Pacifica Coastside and the exciting Pacific Ocean from its carefully designed split-level dining room and cocktail lounge. The menu is ever mindful of the gourmet. Among the favorites are Veal Scallopini Marsala, Filet of Sole Marguery, and Chicken Cacciatore Milanaise. And something new for the adventurous is the Sunday Surf Brunch served from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Eggs and Omelettes are prepared with excellence. The Eggs Benedict served on English muffins with Canadian bacon and Hollandaise sauce is a prize winner. Set sail for Pacifica and an exciting experience . . . As for Mexican fare and its spicy flavors, the Papagayo Room located on the level below is a trip across the border without driving clear across the country. Tasty Mexican dishes are served by smiling senoritas who are dressed in the traditional Mexican costume. And here again, the view of the Rockaway Beach coastline is something to write home about . . . Oldest of Nick Gust's three restaurants is Nick's Restaurant and Lounge, which is located just across the street. This is where the Wednesday through Sunday dance action is lively and fun as the Steve Romano Combo provides the danceable sounds. Steak and seafood specialties are always available; open seven days a week from 10 a.m. serving breakfast, lunch and dinner.

Lily Tomlin, Fairmont Hotel For Three Weeks

You certainly won't want to miss Lily Tomlin, a gifted comedienne who is taking over the spotlight in the Fairmont Hotel's Venetian Room these nights. You will find yourself nodding your head in recognition as she portrays someone you know. She does a bit of Ernestine of dear Ma Bell (from "Laugh-In"), and she does her Cheerleader, and her Tasteful Lady. Her funny-sad teen-ager of the 50's will have you in tears. Don't miss Lily — she's great! And that's the truth . . . Enrico Romano, who owns and operates Romano's Italian restaurant in Rockaway Beach, Pacifica, has had one of the busiest years of his career. While many restaurant owners have been complaining about a slump in business, Romano has enjoyed a new influx of business, thanks to the fact he prepares wonderful Italian family-style dinners . . . Lucien Sabella, in addition to overseeing the operation of his A. Sabella's kitchen, and personally handling most of the large banquet parties which use his expanded facilities on the upper floor of the Fisherman's Wharf restaurant, is a golf enthusiast, automobile fancier and a skiing buff.

Exposition Fish Grotto Chef Davis Wins Again

Chef Art Davis at the Exposition Fish Grotto has won another prize—this one a beaut. Chef Art, of Greek origin, working in an Italian oriented restaurant, came up with a German potato salad recipe flavored with Regina wine vinegar, enough to convince the Hueblein people Art was worthy of the first prize, a month's stay at the Culinary Olympics in Frankfurt, Germany. No end to this chef's gourmet skills . . . Whether the weather is bright and sunny or overcast and hazy, the view is always atmospheric at Torres Beach restaurant, located on a picturesque stretch of beach along Coast Highway One, just south of Devil's Slide, in Montara. Frank and Fannie Torres, your genial hosts, are always greeting their patrons with a broad smile, for they know they serve the best South American specialities of the house you'll find anywhere in the State of California . . . Don Dianda meets many stars from Hollywood as well as political and financial figures whenever they lunch or dine at Doros in San Francisco. The superb Holiday award-winning cuisine and Dianda's many rare wines attracts the gourmets.

Reservations Now For Father's Day Dining

Father's Day is June 18 and the Shirt Tail restaurant in Palo Alto has a masculine atmosphere and menu specialties which will appeal to him. Suggestions for the man-of-the-house on his day are Veal Scaloppine or Stuffed Filet of Sole. Soup or salad, plus dessert are included on the festive dinner. Make reservations early . . . Few companies treat their employes better than Leggalett Tanning. One recent Saturday the well-known family-owned enterprise hosted over 200 employes to an elegant sit-down dinner in the swank Banque Room of The Shadows of San Mateo. Members of the Shadows' crew reported that these festive occasions occur quite frequently . . . It's a "Welcome back" to Reno Donati, co-owner of the New Southern Restaurant in South San Francisco. The likeable restauranteur is back on the scene and as chipper as ever, after surgery and a few days rest . . . The Mandarin Star restaurant in San Carlos (adjacent to Circle Star Theater) has entered the "Luncheon Sweepstakes." Owner Chung Peng is now featuring a buffet luncheon (both Chinese and American dishes), Monday through Friday from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., which is "All you can eat."

Barbecue Ribs And Fresh Strawberry Pie

Any father will be delighted with a succulent dinner of barbecue ribs ala Stickney's at any of their Peninsula restaurants. It's a hearty Western-style barbecue flavor with Stickney's own Hickory House sauce. Top it off with Fresh Strawberry Pie from Stickney's own bakeries . . The new Iron Gate restaurant in Belmont is a discovery for those who wish to escape the usual luncheon crush. The atmosphere is relaxing, the service is attentive and speedy enough to get you back to work on time, and you'll do a double take when you spot the modest prices on the menu. Each day you'll find new gourmet specials featured along with everyday favorites such as London Broil and Cannelloni a la Roma. . . . If you still have room for dessert after one of Phil Lehr's magnificent steak dinners at the Steakery in downtown San Francisco, order the luscious Prune Pernod. A Steakery exclusive, it's a spectacular treat prepared by your waiter at the table, and served flaming in a listening silver stirryp cup.

Medical Study

The County Board of Supervisors, beginning a week-long series of study sessions and hearings on the proposed 1972-73 county budget, on Monday approved most of the Health and Welfare Department funds, including 88 new eligibility workers for the Social Services Division.

Also, the board added $75,000 for a study of the future of the county's medical care system and approved a consumer protection specialist position not recommended by County Manager M. D. Tarshes.

The $75,000 amount was proposed by Tarshes for a health system planning project "to study and come to some conclusions as to the best future role of the county's medical care system."

The manager said that complete specifications of the study will be submitted to the Board of Supervisors this coming fall by the Hospital Advisory Group.

County Health and Welfare Director Dr. George Pickett readily endorsed the study, reporting that Chope Community Hospital is the only such hospital without a long-range plan for its future role.

The study itself will take six to nine months, Pickett said, with a goal of deciding whether the hospital should be remodeled and expanded, whether a series of neighborhood health centers should be established or whether the county should contract out its health care program to private medical care.

In his report to the board, Tarshes said the additional eligibility workers are needed to service the ever-increasing work load and will permit establishment of a district office in the Pacifica-Daly City area.

The manager said the positions are scheduled to be added gradually during the year, with the last positions not expected to be filled until June, 1973.

Although a total of 88 petitions were approved, it does not mean that much of a net increase in the number of employes since closing of Canyon Hospital has deleted a total of 16 positions from the Health and Welfare budget.

In his budget proposal, Tarshes proposes a net increase of 31 positions for the entire county government structure.

Picket argued successfully for inclusion of the consumer protection specialist position in the Health Department.

The board agreed to provide funds in the amount of $7,642 for six months, specifying the department will have received board approval before filling the post.

The specialist would be assigned the task of inspecting markets and grocery stores for adulterated foods, cleanliness and intrusion of rodents.

Budget hearings are scheduled to continue through Friday.

Crestmoor Accreditation

Crestmoor High School has been granted accreditation for a full five-year term by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges (WASC), Superintendent A. Hugh Livingston has advised the San Mateo Union High School District Board of Trustees.

The visiting accreditation committee commended Crestmoor for its recent innovations in block scheduling, the increase in its elective course offerings, and its "open, friendly atmosphere." In his comments to the Board of Trustees, Livingston called the committee report "very positive and very supportive of Crestmoor."

Crestmoor's preparation for the visiting committee's March 13-15 visit began last fall with the selection of committees to perform a "self-evaluation study." The resulting "school report," representing all segments of the Crestmoor community, formed the basis for the WASC committee's study.

The visiting committee commended the strong points of each academic department, the clerical staff for its "professional manner," the custodial and gardening staff for the "excellent appearance of the campus and grounds," and frequent coffee hours held in the community to help maintain good relationships with parents and students.

The visiting committee also recommended several ways to improve Crestmoor. Among these were "a comprehensive evaluation of the adequacy of the physical plant," with particular attention to temperature, light, and sound control in working areas; "an immediate study" to develop more efficient procedures.

Youth Held For Burglary

A 19-year-old South San Franciscan was arrested on charges of burglary Saturday after an apartment resident in San Bruno saw persons getting in his car.

Booked was James D. Jones of 1027 Hillside Boulevard.

Police said a resident of the Shelter Creek apartments in San Bruno saw two men tampering with his car at about 6:30 a.m.

According to police the suspects fled in a pickup truck and the resident gave chase and flagged down a Daly City policeman who stopped the truck.

In the process, the second suspect got away, police said.

Millbrae Planners Deny Condominium

A proposed condominium apartment on the Millbrae Theater parking lot and a proposed rezoning to allow apartments near Skyline Boulevard were rejected Monday by the Millbrae Planning Commission.

The refusal of planning commissioners to consider Joseph Karp's application for approval of his 34-unit condominium project will, almost certainly, lead to a lawsuit against the city.

The refusal of commissioners to favorably act on Douglas Pringle's presentation of Robert McGovern's application for rezoning on Vallejo Drive, will certainly lead to a hearing before the City Council.

Except for those two "hot potato" items, planners had little to worry about.

They quickly approved a small condominium plan by Quinto Investments at Ashton and Millbrae Avenues and agreed to withhold action on a variance sought by Thomas Maes.

Chariman Kenneth Rives announced a public hearing on "Spur" property proposals, for June 26. Everyone is invited, he said.

But it was the Karp question that raised the heckles of expectancy.

Karp presented his plans to the city months ago, and went ahead with architectural preparations to build apartments on a portion of the theater parking lot that is zoned for apartments. Another portion, zoned for commercial uses, he will develop later for businesses, he said.

Faced with the knowledge that the theater will not have adequate parking, if the property is used for residences, planners last month sent the Karp proposal up to City Council for clarification of the city position.

City Attorney Frank Gillio said Millbrae can refuse the application on grounds that to approve it would be to increase the degree of non-conformity under which the theater already exists because it was built before the city was incorporated and adopted zoning laws.

Karp told councilmen he would fight any such decision and they told him that they would fight his development on any grounds they could find.

Last night's brief hearing was the opening shot in the second round of the Millbrae-Karp battle and Karp came armed with a mini-skirted legal stenographer and a stenograph machine.

His attorney, former Planning Commissioner Joseph Geller, asked that the matter be heard. Karp said he was only addressing himself, at this time, to that portion of the property already zoned for apartments.

Pringle made an almost-as-brief appeal for approval of apartment zoning for the chunk of property along Vallejo Drive that he has sold to Robert McGovern.

The land is now zoned for duplex use, he said, but it is surrounded by property zoned for apartments.

Commissioners voted 4-1 against re-zoning, with Eugene Morasoli agreeing with Pringle's arguments.

Chairman Rives told Pringle he could appeal to the city council. Pringle is expected to be there.

Honor Society Accepts Members

Phi Kappa Phi, the national scholastic honor society, has elected its new members for the year from the University of California, Davis.

Phi Kappa Phi, founded in 1897, has 121 chapters in colleges and universities across the nation. The Davis chapter was established in 1954.

Following are the names, and hometowns, of the undergraduate initiates:

From San Mateo County:

DALY CITY: Joan P. Mitchell, senior;

MILLBRAE: Jean E. Binder, senior, Thomas J. Connor, junior;

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO: Michael Hennig, senior.

Engvall Champ

San Bruno's Engvall School won the North Peninsula Intermediate League baseball championship for the first time in ten years.

South San Francisco Beauty

MISS INDUSTRIAL CITY — Julie Weih, a statuesque brunette who displayed her singing talent in a medley from the musical, "Promises, Promises," won the crown of Miss Industrial City 1972 at the annual pageant in South San Francisco Saturday. Along with the title goes more than $1,200 in scholarships and prizes, including a trip to Hawaii.

Skyline Route May Bypass

A re-evaluation of the county's proposed highway system with an eye to eliminating the extension of Skyline Boulevard north from Half Moon Bay Road through the San Francisco watershed and wildlife refuge was ordered on June 6 by the Board of Supervisors.

The action came as the board considered recommendations of the County Greater Transportation Committee concerning inclusion of Skyline between Sharp Park Road and San Bruno Freeway in the city-county highway system, as well as inclusion of a portion of Fassler Avenue to give access to the Portola Discovery site in Pacifica and allocation of funds to Pacifica to build a portion of Fassler Avenue between Cabrillo Highway and Crespi Drive.

Supervisor Robert St. Clair was opposed, contending the action will give an assumption for the continuation of Skyline through the watershed on the West side of the Crystal Springs lakes, a situation he described as "further intrusions of smog, pollution and traffic."

St. Clair said he favors designation of Skyline as a scenic route from Half Moon Bay Road south to the county line, but that he does not want the road continued northward unless it is specifically designated as a closed road, for use of bicyclists, hikers and horseback riders.

County Engineer S. H. Cantwell reported that extension of Skyline was adopted by the County Greater Transportation Committee in 1962, and that the GTC was acting on those lines.

Furthermore, he said, the proposals concerning Skyline and Fassler Avenue in the new recommendations would not affect the watershed.

Supervisor Jean Fassler, after whom Fassler Avenue is named, said the recommended designations are proposed as a protective measure and should be approved, at least to hold the routes until the county position can be evaluated.

St. Clair countered that it would not be protecting the area, but would be creating pressures to continue the routing of Skyline through the watershed area.

Mrs. Fassler argued that a route is needed to provide access to the discovery site because the present road is narrow and dangerous.

Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald sided with St. Clair, stating he wanted to be brought up to date concerning routing and funding. However, the two lost out, in a 3 to 2 vote, to approve the recommendations, which include allocation of $136,000 of Pacifica's five-year road program credits for construction of the Fassler Avenue project between Cabrillo and Crespi, project estimated to cost a total $575,000.
